Chairman's Greetings

Chairman of Onyul

Sai Ree Yun

“In 2023, Yulchon and Onyul continued to strive for the betterment of our society.”

Since our establishment, we have consistently expanded activities aimed at the social integration of individuals with mental disabilities, including the publication of a financial manual for guardians and research for improving public guardianship systems. Additionally, we have continued to fulfill our role as the legal back office for nonprofit startups aspiring to become impact unicorns in the public sector. We have dispatched lawyers to social welfare corporations such as World Vision and Save the Children, fostering close collaboration with lawyers to undertake various activities, including the establishment of a quasi-in-house legal system and the facilitation of introducing the child death review system to Korea. Also, we have won numerous public interest lawsuits related to disability rights, including cases involving the fatal assault of a developmentally disabled child, collisions of wheelchair-bound individuals at crosswalks, and refusal of sole boarding of disabled individuals in Seoul's taxis for the disabled. Furthermore, we have participated in various research projects, such as the development of a guidance and utilization manual of the Act on the Guardianship of Minors in Protective Facilities and provided legal and financial support for improving overseas adoption systems, supporting resettlement of North Korean defectors, and assisting impoverished individuals. We are committed to extending assistance to youth in need, including adolescents outside of their homes, young adults who have aged out of foster care, and minors in need of protection. Consequently, Attorney Kwang Yeol Bae was awarded the Public Interest Award at the 6th Korean Legal Awards.

Now, as Onyul celebrates its 10th anniversary in 2024, we are determined to strive for a new leap forward. We will seek opportunities to collaborate with not only the members of Yulchon and Onyul but also individuals and organizations in our society to create synergies. We will reach out and extend our hands to those willing to join forces with us in advancing the public good. We earnestly hope for your continued support and encouragement as we embark on Onyul's new decade.

Thank you.

Legal Reform for Children

Since January 2023, Attorneys Jahoon Kim and Min Kyeong Jeon, along with the law firm Yulchon (Attorneys Na Young Lee and Se In Jang), have been providing consultation for the legislation of the child death review system in collaboration with Save the Children. Inadequacies within the response system for child abuse in South Korea have led to incomplete investigations whenever a child abuse-related death occurs due to the lack of legal basis for data collection. To address this, we are working on establishing a permanent body to review all child deaths, aiming to build a comprehensive system for preventing and responding to child abuse. This task involves researching international cases and drafting legislation for the child death review system to minimize occurrences of child deaths.

Still, the team didn’t give up and was able to have the Supreme Court rule in their favor, resulting in a guilty verdict and a retrial. Due to the team’s persistent efforts, retrial resulted in a final sentence of eight years imprisonment. Recognizing the team’s contributions towards improving the rights of women and minorities within the military, they were honored with the ‘Steppingstone for Gender Equality Award’ at the 2023 Korean Women’s Conference, organized by the Korean Women’s Associations united in celebration of International Women’s Day on March 8th.

- Litigation for Immigrant Women and Their Children

IV. Rights of Persons with Disabilities

On June 20, 2023, Onyul, along with Hosanna University and Congressman Jae Hyeong Choe, co-hosted a seminar titled “The Necessity and Implementation of Private Sector-led Customized Support Housing Development for the Independent Living of Adults with Developmental Disabilities in the Local Community.” This seminar served as an extension of a research project commissioned by Onyul in 2021 to explore property management solutions for middle-income individuals with developmental disabilities. The discussion focused on devising concrete implementation plans for the successful establishment of “Customized Support Shared Housing for Individuals with Developmental Disabilities,” as proposed in the final report of the research project.

Public Interest Litigation

- Violation of the Road Traffic Act by Hearing-Impaired Persons

Onyul’s lawyers, Kwang Youl Bae, Min Kyeong Jeon, and Young Mi Kim, successfully appealed the case of a hearing-impaired person, Mr. A, charged with violating the Road Traffic Act, resulting in an acquittal (Suwon District Court 2021NO7010). The case centered around whether the defendant, who was hearing-impaired, could understand the Miranda rights and other arrest procedures communicated only through written form. The court ruled that the essential facts of the charges were not communicated in a manner understandable to the defendant, who relies on sign language as the primary means of communication, the notification procedure did not adhere to legal standards. Consequently, the arrest was unlawful. Thus, the acquittal verdict in the first trial was upheld, and the prosecution’s appeal was dismissed.

- Homicide of Father as a Result of Assault by a Person with Developmental Disabilities

Attorneys Kwang Youl Bae and Young Mi Kim from Onyul, along with lawyers from the Gyeonggi Disability Rights Issues Center, defended Mr. A, a person with developmental disabilities, in a case of homicide in a citizen participation trial (Suwon Appellate Court 2023NO832). The defendant was sentenced to three years in prison with a five-year probation. This case is significant as it underscores the importance of considering the defendant’s circumstances comprehensively when assessing intent, particularly in cases involving persons with developmental disabilities.

- Wheelchair-bound Pedestrian Collides with Another Pedestrian While on Crosswalk

Attorney Young Mi Kim, along with attorneys from the Seoul National University Public Interest Law Center and the Hwawoo Public Interest Foundation, defended Mr. A, a brain injury patient suffering, in a negligence case (Suwon District Court, Anyang Branch 2023GOJEONG84) in the first trial and obtained a verdict of not guilty. The court concluded that there was no duty of care for the defendant to anticipate that the plaintiff, who had started crossing the crosswalk from the defendant’s right side, would enter the defendant’s path at a faster speed, and thus prevent the accident.

- Refusal of the Use of the Taxi Without a Caregiver by an Individual with Multiple Mental Disabilities

Attorney Young Mi Kim, along with lawyers from Seoul National University Public Interest Law Center, the Gyeonggi Disability Rights Research Center, and Hwawoo Public Interest Foundation, represented persons with intellectual and brain lesion disabilities in a disability discrimination case (Seoul Central District Court 2023CARH21154). They obtained an interim measure stating that “persons with intellectual and brain lesion disabilities who use wheelchairs should be allowed to take accessible taxis alone, without a caregiver.” A person with dual disabilities (relatively mild as to not significantly impact his daily life), Mr. A, was denied solo rides in accessible taxis because of an internal regulation of the Seoul Facilities Corporation, which required people with intellectual, autism, or mental disabilities to be accompanied by caregivers. This decision underscores the importance of ensuring that court-mandated interim measures under the Act on the Prohibition of Discrimination Against Persons with Disabilities, Remedy Against Infringement of Their Rights are not simply ritualized but serve their intended function, highlighting the need for appropriate legal operation.

V. Support and Welfare for the Underprivileged

Legal Reform

- Seminar on “Procedures and Directions for Improving Inheritance Property Handling after the Death of Unrelated Individuals.”
